PART 17 — E-BOARD GOVERNMENT & INSTITUTIONAL SALES KIT

Partner Strategy

LOSVINCA — DIGITAL BOARD GOVERNANCE PLATFORM

Losvinca E-Board Partner Programme

Classification: CONFIDENTIAL — Internal Sales Use Only Version: 1.0

17.1 WHY A PARTNER STRATEGY MATTERS

Losvinca is building a governance technology company. It cannot — and should not — attempt to reach every potential client through direct sales alone. A structured partner programme multiplies reach, adds credibility, and creates a referral pipeline that reduces customer acquisition cost.

The logic is straightforward:

- Governance consultants are already in the boardroom. They have relationships with Corporation Secretaries, CEOs, and board chairs. They advise on exactly the processes E-Board digitises.
- ICT consultants are already drafting technology specifications for government institutions. They influence what gets procured.
- Legal firms and corporate secretarial firms serve the same clients E-Board targets, often on a retainer basis.
- If these professionals recommend E-Board, the sale comes with built-in trust.

Losvinca's partner strategy has three objectives:

1. Generate qualified referrals that convert to paying clients
2. Extend Losvinca's reach without proportionally growing the sales team
3. Build ecosystem credibility — a product recommended by governance professionals carries authority that no amount of advertising can buy

17.2 PARTNER CATEGORIES

CATEGORY 1: Governance Consultants

Who they are: Independent consultants and consultancy firms that advise boards on governance best practices, Mwongozo compliance, board charters, governance frameworks, and governance audits.

Why they would partner with Losvinca:

- They frequently recommend that institutions adopt structured governance processes — but until now, there has been no local digital tool to recommend.
- E-Board turns their recommendations into a working system. Instead of leaving a governance audit report that gathers dust, they can recommend (and help implement) E-Board.

- Partnering gives them a technology differentiator over competing consultants who can only recommend process changes on paper.

What they gain:

- Referral commission: 10% of first-year subscription revenue for each referred client that converts
- Co-branded case studies (with client permission) demonstrating the governance improvement achieved
- Access to a partner demo environment to show E-Board during their consulting engagements
- Priority co-delivery opportunities on implementation projects
- Listing on Losvinca's website as an accredited governance partner

What Losvinca provides:

- Partner training on E-Board features (half-day session)
- Marketing collateral they can co-brand or share
- Demonstration environment branded to their consultancy
- Technical support for their client engagements
- Joint proposal templates for governance improvement projects that include E-Board

Referral model:

Referral Outcome	Commission
Referral converts to paid subscription	10% of Year 1 subscription
Referral converts and partner provides implementation support	10% commission + implementation services fee (agreed per project)
Referral converts via tender (partner influenced specification)	7.5% of Year 1 subscription

Partnership pitch (to a governance consultant):

> "You already advise boards on governance best practices. E-Board turns your recommendations into a working digital system — meeting workflows, conflict of interest registers, audit trails, the entire governance cycle. When you recommend E-Board as part of your consulting engagement, you give your client a tangible, lasting outcome. And you earn a referral commission for every client that subscribes. We handle the technology. You provide the governance expertise. Together, we deliver something neither of us can deliver alone."

CATEGORY 2: Board Trainers and Board Development Professionals

Who they are: Individuals and organisations that conduct board induction programmes, board evaluations, director training, and governance capacity building. Often work with the Kenya School of Government, Institute of Directors Kenya, or independently.

Why they would partner:

- They train board members on how governance should work — E-Board is the platform where it works in practice.
- Recommending E-Board during training positions them as forward-thinking and practical, not just theoretical.

- E-Board's iPad-optimised portal is a concrete, visible tool they can reference during board induction sessions.

What they gain:

- Referral commission: 10% of first-year subscription revenue
- E-Board demonstration access for use in training sessions
- Ability to include "E-Board orientation" as a value-added component in their training programmes (a revenue opportunity for the trainer)
- Co-developed training materials that incorporate E-Board
- Listing as an accredited training partner

What Losvinca provides:

- Train-the-trainer session on E-Board
- Sample training curriculum incorporating E-Board modules
- Guest presentation support (Losvinca team member joins training session for E-Board segment)
- Marketing collateral

Referral model:

Referral Outcome	Commission
Training participant's institution subscribes	10% of Year 1 subscription
Trainer conducts E-Board-specific training for a new client	Training fee (charged by trainer) + 7.5% referral commission if institution subscribes

Partnership pitch:

> "When you train a new board, you set the standard for how governance should work. E-Board is where that standard comes to life — digital meeting management, structured paper review, auditable conflict declarations. By incorporating E-Board into your training programmes, you offer boards a practical tool alongside the knowledge. And every institution that subscribes earns you a commission. It is a natural extension of what you already do."

CATEGORY 3: Corporate Secretarial Firms

Who they are: Firms that provide outsourced or advisory corporate secretarial services — preparing board packs, managing meeting logistics, maintaining statutory registers, filing returns. Several operate in Kenya serving private companies, state corporations, and NGOs.

Why they would partner:

- E-Board automates much of the manual work they currently perform. Rather than seeing it as a threat, smart firms will see it as a tool that makes their services more efficient and scalable.
- With E-Board, a corporate secretarial firm can serve more clients with the same team.
- Firms that adopt E-Board can offer "digital governance" as a premium service tier.

What they gain:

- Referral commission: 10% of first-year subscription for client referrals
- Volume licensing discount for deploying E-Board across their client portfolio (negotiated)
- Ability to offer "E-Board managed service" as a premium offering to their clients
- Efficiency gains in their own operations
- Competitive differentiation against firms using manual processes

What Losvinca provides:

- Multi-client management capability discussion [REQUIRES LOSVINCA INPUT — assess whether E-Board supports a "firm manages multiple institution instances" model]
- Partner-specific training
- Priority technical support
- Joint marketing

Referral model:

Referral Outcome	Commission
Client referred and subscribes	10% of Year 1 subscription
Firm deploys E-Board for own client portfolio (volume deal)	Negotiated volume discount in lieu of per-referral commission
Firm provides ongoing administration services via E-Board	Firm charges client directly; Losvinca provides platform

Partnership pitch:

> "E-Board does not replace your role — it amplifies it. With E-Board managing the meeting workflow, paper distribution, and audit trail, you can focus on the strategic governance advisory work that your clients value most. Deploy E-Board for your clients, earn a commission for each subscription, and differentiate your firm as the corporate secretarial practice that delivers governance digitally. We have seen that firms using structured platforms can serve 30–40% more clients with the same team."

CATEGORY 4: Legal Firms (with Corporate/Commercial Practice)

Who they are: Law firms with corporate law, commercial law, or governance advisory practices. They advise on board constitutions, board charters, conflicts of interest, corporate compliance, and regulatory requirements.

Why they would partner:

- Legal firms advise on exactly the governance frameworks that E-Board implements digitally.
- When a legal firm recommends governance improvements, E-Board is the implementation tool.
- Conflict of interest declarations — a legal compliance matter — are a core E-Board feature with OTP verification and digital signatures.

What they gain:

- Referral commission: 7.5% of first-year subscription (lower rate reflects less direct involvement in implementation)
- Positioning as a technology-forward legal practice
- Enhanced advisory offering: "We will draft your conflict of interest policy and implement it in E-Board"

- Access to E-Board documentation for legal review and client advisory

What Losvinca provides:

- Legal partner briefing on E-Board compliance features
- Technical documentation for legal due diligence
- Data protection and privacy documentation
- Joint client engagement on governance advisory + E-Board deployment

Partnership pitch:

> "When you advise a board on governance compliance, your recommendations are only as strong as the institution's ability to implement them. E-Board is the implementation layer — it turns your governance policies, conflict of interest procedures, and meeting protocols into automated, auditable digital workflows. Referring your clients to E-Board strengthens the impact of your legal advice and earns your firm a referral commission."

CATEGORY 5: Audit and Risk Consultants

Who they are: Internal audit consultants, external audit firms (particularly those advising on governance controls), and enterprise risk management consultants.

Why they would partner:

- E-Board's comprehensive audit trail — with old/new values, IP logging, user agent tracking, and PDF export — is exactly what auditors want to see.
- Governance is a standard audit domain. Auditors who find governance weaknesses can now recommend a specific solution.
- Risk consultants assessing board-level risks can point to E-Board as a risk mitigation measure.

What they gain:

- Referral commission: 7.5% of first-year subscription
- Ability to reference E-Board as a "recommended control" in audit findings
- Enhanced credibility: recommending a specific, practical solution rather than just identifying problems
- Access to E-Board audit trail documentation for assessment purposes

What Losvinca provides:

- Audit-focused demonstration of E-Board's trail and compliance features
- Documentation mapping E-Board controls to standard audit frameworks
- Joint engagement opportunities on governance improvement projects

Partnership pitch:

> "You identify governance control weaknesses. E-Board fixes them. When your audit or risk assessment finds gaps in meeting documentation, conflict of interest management, or board paper security, E-Board is the control that closes those gaps — with a comprehensive audit trail your firm can verify. Recommend E-Board to your clients, and earn a referral commission while strengthening the institutions you serve."

CATEGORY 6: ICT Consultants

Who they are: Technology consultants and firms that advise government institutions and organisations on ICT strategy, procurement, system selection, and digital transformation.

Why they would partner:

- They are often asked to draft technical specifications for software procurement — including board management systems.
- They advise on system selection and can influence which products are evaluated.
- They may be hired to manage implementation projects, including E-Board deployment.

What they gain:

- Referral commission: 10% of first-year subscription
- Implementation service opportunities (Losvinca sub-contracts or jointly delivers with the ICT consultant)
- Technical partner certification from Losvinca
- Access to E-Board technical documentation and APIs (when available)
- Priority support channel

What Losvinca provides:

- Technical deep-dive training (architecture, security, hosting, integration points)
- Technical specification templates the consultant can adapt for client procurements
- Joint proposal preparation for government tenders
- Co-delivery framework for implementation projects

Partnership pitch:

> "When a government institution asks you to help them procure a board management system, E-Board is the answer you can recommend with confidence. Built on Laravel and PHP 8+ — a stack your team knows — with comprehensive security features and full white-label branding. We offer technical partner certification, implementation co-delivery opportunities, and a 10% referral commission for every client you bring. Your clients get a proven platform. You get a reliable technology partner and a new revenue stream."

CATEGORY 7: Management Consultants

Who they are: Strategy and management consulting firms that advise organisations on institutional strengthening, performance improvement, and strategic planning. Includes firms advising government on public sector reform.

Why they would partner:

- Institutional strengthening often includes governance improvement as a workstream.
- Management consultants can include E-Board in their transformation project deliverables.
- Digital governance adoption demonstrates measurable reform progress — important for donor-funded programmes.

What they gain:

- Referral commission: 7.5% of first-year subscription
- Ability to include E-Board in institutional strengthening project proposals
- Measurable deliverable for governance improvement workstreams
- Enhanced project outcomes (a tool, not just a report)

What Losvinca provides:

- Project-level engagement for institutional strengthening programmes
- Governance maturity assessment framework (leveraging E-Board as the maturity benchmark)
- Joint proposal support
- Discounted pricing for multi-institution reform projects

Partnership pitch:

> "Your institutional strengthening projects aim for lasting change. E-Board makes governance improvement tangible and sustainable. Instead of a consulting report that recommends better board processes, you deliver a working digital governance platform that the institution uses every day. Include E-Board in your project scope, and deliver governance reform that sticks."

CATEGORY 8: NGO Support Organisations

Who they are: Organisations that support NGOs, community-based organisations, and civil society organisations with governance, capacity building, and institutional development. Includes umbrella bodies, sector coordinators, and donor-funded programmes.

Why they would partner:

- NGO governance is increasingly scrutinised by donors and regulators (NGO Coordination Board requirements).
- Support organisations can offer E-Board as a shared service or recommended tool for their member organisations.
- Donor-funded programmes often include governance strengthening components.

What they gain:

- Referral commission: 7.5% of first-year subscription per member organisation that subscribes
- Volume licensing arrangements for their member base (negotiated)
- Ability to include E-Board in capacity building programmes
- Governance improvement metrics for donor reporting

What Losvinca provides:

- NGO-tailored pricing (Starter tier with possible NGO discount per Part 14)
- Bulk onboarding support for multiple member organisations
- Training delivered through the support organisation's existing programmes
- Joint donor proposals for governance strengthening initiatives

Partnership pitch:

> "Your member organisations need good governance — for regulatory compliance, donor confidence, and institutional credibility. E-Board provides an affordable, structured governance platform that any NGO can adopt. Recommend E-Board through your capacity building programmes, and help your members professionalise their board governance. Volume arrangements are available for your member base, and referral commissions apply for individual subscriptions."

17.9 RISKS AND MITIGATIONS

Risk	Mitigation
Partners promise features E-Board does not have	Provide clear capability documentation; partner agreement requires adherence to approved claims
Partners approach clients with aggressive sales tactics that damage Losvinca's reputation	Partner code of conduct; right to terminate for breach

Risk	Mitigation
Commission disputes	Clear referral registration process with timestamps; dispute resolution clause in agreement
Partners refer low-quality leads that consume sales resources	Qualify referrals before investing significant sales effort; provide partners with client qualification criteria
Partners become competitors (develop their own product)	Non-compete is difficult to enforce; focus on making partnership more valuable than competition; build deep product moat
Government procurement rules restrict referral commissions	Commissions are paid by Losvinca to the partner, not charged to the client. This is a standard sales commission arrangement, not a procurement irregularity. However, ensure full transparency and tax compliance.
